

Native Plant Suppliers List - Southern Tasmania

The following nurseries stock Tasmanian native species, as well as Australian natives in some cases. While other nurseries and hardware stores may also stock Tasmanian natives, these nurseries are likely to have a wider range and can offer more specialised advice to help you with local native species selection.

Other sources of Tasmanian native plants include:

- The Royal Tasmanian Botanical Gardens annual spring plant sale – for more information visit <http://www.rtbg.tas.gov.au/>
- Some Councils have plant sales at the end of winter to clear remaining stock. Contact your local Council to find out if and when these occur.
- The Understorey Network coordinates a growers scheme, whereby members can either grow their own or can receive plants grown by other members. For more information visit www.understoreynetwork.org.au or call (03) 6234 4286
